Topic

During this term, we've opted to persist with our exploration of the 'Space' theme. The decision stems from the children's evident enjoyment of the subject, coupled with its ability to foster essential skills within the classroom.

Literacy

Our featured book for this term is titled "Man on the Moon (A Day in the Life of Bob)," which will serve as a springboard for developing the skills required to create our own persuasive advertisement posters enticing tourists to visit the moon.

Numeracy

This term, we will conclude our learning of multiplication and division before transitioning to a focus on length and height. Following that, we will delve into the concepts of mass, capacity, and temperature.
